

Darren M. Digiacinto

Lawyer

Paralegal:
Janel Martindale

Darren joined the team at Winston & Cashatt in January 2017. Before entering private practice, he served as a judicial clerk at Division II of the Washington State Court of Appeals for the Honorable Judge Marywave Van Deren and the Honorable Judge C.C. Bridgewater. His pre-law background includes serving as a securities-licensed branch manager for a national financial institution.

Darren's practice focuses on corporate and business formations and dispute resolution, general commercial litigation, construction litigation, real property transactions and litigation, and creditor/debtor rights. In the bankruptcy realm, Darren represents both debtors and creditors in various aspects of bankruptcy cases. Darren is licensed to practice in Washington and Idaho state and federal courts. He also serves as a Trustee for the Spokane County Bar Association, as Treasurer for the Eastern District of Washington Federal Bar Association and as a Trustee for the Washington State Bar Association's Creditor/Debtor Section.

Darren and his wife Corey are foodies who enjoy travel, gardening, home improvement projects, reading, and entertaining their dogs.
