

Collette C. Leland

Lawyer

Paralegal:

Melanie Morman

Collette Leland has been practicing with Winston & Cashatt since 2009, and works out of its offices in Coeur d'Alene and in Spokane.

Collette has been named a Rising Star by Washington Law & Politics Magazine and one of Spokane's Top Lawyers by Spokane/Coeur d'Alene Magazine. Collette has an Avvo rating of 10.0, and has an AV – Preeminent Rating from Martindale Hubble.

Background

Collette grew up in the Pacific Northwest and returned after a 22-year hiatus to be near family and attend Gonzaga Law School. She graduated summa cum laude and number two in her class, while raising two teenagers and clerking for the United States Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Washington.

After graduation, Collette served as a judicial clerk for Washington Supreme Court Justice Mary E. Fairhurst, who influenced Collette's approach to the practice of law and life. Collette served briefly as a deputy prosecuting attorney after her clerkship before joining Winston & Cashatt in 2009.

Collette's practice focuses on complex litigation, including trust and estate disputes, business disputes, and construction. She has represented public entities and contractors, trustees and beneficiaries, businesses and individuals—enjoying the opportunity to solve problems for her clients.

Collette lives in Coeur d'Alene with her husband Ed, and enjoys time with their five adult children, hikes in the mountains, biking, cooking, and learning new things.
